

A bulletin from Arkansas State Police headquarters advises that the Associated Transportation Club of Memphis is sponsoring a nationwide Safe Driving Contest for teen-agers.

The seven state police districts of Arkansas (Hope is headquarters for District Four) will hold an elimination contest to choose this state's representative in the national meet at Memphis. Prizes will be offered all state winners, with a grand prize for the best teen-aged driver in the nation.

Contestants should get their applications in to the Department of Arkansas State Police, P.O. Box 1189, Little Rock, Ark., before midnight May 15. The application blanks are obtainable from the local district police sergeant, and the date of district contests will be announced later.

This teen-age contest is a good idea. The most tragic highway story is when death strikes the very young. The older you get the greater the margin you allow for error. The idea is to live long enough to learn this.

UN's Solution on Palestine Will Not Be an Easy Road
By JAMES THRASHER

The United Nations' legal experts have considered the Palestine situation and come up with an opinion that knocks several props from under the American government's position on carrying out partition. Since that position drew few cheers from anybody, perhaps it is just as well.

These experts have decided that, after the British turn over the Palestine mandate on May 15, the UN Palestine Commission will become that country's legally constituted government. This, obviously, would only hold true if the differences had been settled and Arab and Jewish governments were set up and functioning.

As the lawful government, the Commission could invoke the enforcement measures contained in the UN Charter. The differences would only hold true if the differences had been settled and Arab and Jewish governments were set up and functioning.

The Council could use discretion about enforcement, and it would not have to try to carry out provisions that were unworkable. But it apparently could not depart from the objectives of the partition resolution.

The UN itself has created no laws to govern the relations between states. But there is a recognized body of international law which applies to mandates, among other things. UN legal experts undoubtedly based their opinion as far as possible on international law. And that law will almost certainly take precedence over a national policy.

The legal opinion differs from this government's policy on partition enforcement at least in two respects. As an agency of the General Assembly, the Palestine Commission is directed to carry out the Assembly's decision. As a government, the Commission would also seem to be empowered to enforce the decision. The American insistence on using military forces to enforce peace, but not partition, contradicts that opinion. If the legal experts' opinion is to be followed, the Council will not be able to arrange any deal that does not conform to the partition resolution. It appears that any change would have to originate in the General Assembly.

No legal opinion, however expert, is going to make the job of pacifying Palestine an easy one. But at least it sets up the signposts of law and precedent for all to see. If those concerned with carrying out the General Assembly's resolution will follow the directions, they cannot stray too far from the road that the signposts mark.

The peace-loving world will hope that that road leads to a just solution of the sad and threatening problems of Palestine today. It will also hope that, by staying within the limits of that road, those agencies of the UN assigned to solving the problem will reach the end of their journey more swiftly.

Sunrise Easter Service Here Sunday

A union Sunrise Easter Service will be held at the high school stadium at 8:30 a.m., Sunday, March 28. The local Ministerial Alliance announced. Most churches in Hope are participating.

This is a yearly service with pastors from local churches taking turns delivering the Easter message. The message this Easter will be by the Rev. Paul Holdridge of the Gospel Tabernacle.

The high school band under the direction of Thomas Cannon and the Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Bill Keltner, will take part in the service. Arrangements are in charge of Roy Anderson. An offering will be received to be given to the Alliance for running expenses and as a supplement to the Thanksgiving offering for relief of needy families.

In the event of inclement weather the service will be held in the school auditorium. Residents and Hope and vicinity are invited to attend.

Arkansas paused this Good Friday to pay reverent tribute to the Crucifixion of Christ as a prelude to the celebration of Easter Sunday of his resurrection.

Holy Week began statewide last Sunday with practically every Christian church dedicating its services to the story of Christ's entry into Jerusalem. For most cities in Arkansas, the day marked the beginning of week-long union or denominational pre-Easter revival services.

Union Evangelistic services were held in Batesville with preaching each morning by a different pastor. Batesville, Batesville, Siloam Springs and Pine Bluff.

Holy week found most of the Protestant churches in Newport in a downtown religious service for which business establishments closed.

Reaching Good Friday, many city-wide services were held over the state, and county employees in Little Rock were dismissed from noon until 3 p.m. to attend services in their own church.

Other Good Friday services were held in Turkey, Mena, Rogers, Newport, Batesville, Siloam Springs and Pine Bluff.

Classes at the University of Arkansas and practically all Arkansas colleges were dismissed Thursday and Friday.

The 75-voice mixed choir of John Brown University broadcast a half hour of sacred music over the Mutual network Thursday morning from the Cathedral of the Ozarks in Siloam Springs through the facilities of Station KUOA. A part of the broadcast was the sacred classic "The Seven Last Words of Christ." The choir will repeat the music at a concert in Siloam Springs tonight.

The Pine Bluff ministerial alliance observed Good Friday with worship services at the First Methodist church and later at Trinity Episcopal church.

Lewis May Challenge Board Legality

Coal industry sources said today that John L. Lewis may challenge the legality of the board named to investigate the soft coal walkout, largest of the current series of strikes which have idled more than 534,000 workers.

Attorneys for the mine operators said that the president of the United Mine Workers may tell the three-man fact-finding panel, appointed under the Taft-Hartley law, that the walkout of 400,000 soft coal miners does not constitute a strike within the meaning of that law.

In other labor developments: 1-Ralph Holstein, president of the CIO United Packinghouse Workers, denounced "the use of untrustworthy men" in the strike of 100,000 packing plant employees.

Air Secretary Reveals U. S. Bases Close Enough B-29's Can Bomb Any Russian Point

Washington, March 26. —(UP)—Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington blew the lid off hitherto top secrets today with his statement that all Russia is within reach of B-29's based in North America.

On the heels of Symington's electrifying remarks, informed sources explained that the wartime flying range on the superfortresses has been vastly extended by intensive current training and plane improvement.

Symington intimated that the range of the B-29's now is about 5,000 miles. To augment this still further, the air force has developed a technique for refueling bombers while they are in the air, en route to or from a target.

Gen. George C. Kenney, strategic air commander, and officials of Boeing Airplane Co., manufacturers of the B-29, generally endorsed Symington's statement yesterday before a Senate committee.

Speaking of Russia as "the enemy," Symington said such long-range operations would be "impossible" but by the first of next year, he said, the air force will have bomber groups that could hit any part of the Soviet Union from Alaska or Labrador. They could slither to these bases or shuttle to such ports as the Philippines and Okinawa.

This could be done, Symington continued, with the "currently available B-29 utilizing the most modern development of the refueling technique which we developed some years ago."

Up to now the air force has had nothing official to say about refueling in flight, although Britain has put on demonstrations with single planes. After Symington's statement, Kenney said "tanker planes" could accompany bomber formations and re-fuel them at any time.

Boeing officials said the technique, still under development, would require many of the previous limitations on the transpolar warfare concept.

B-29 range increases have been accomplished through engine and fuel system improvements and day-and-night flying crews in handling throttles to get the maximum efficiency out of available fuel.

Both Symington and Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, air chief of staff, emphasized that the "tanker" concept is that for sustained operations "it is necessary to obtain bases closer to the enemy." Bombing attacks based on Alaska and Labrador would not be "decisive," they said.

Suspect Is Arrested in Rape-Slaying Home Ec Official Visits School Cottage

Petaluma, Calif., March 26. —(AP)—Police today arrested a man they said carried papers bearing the name of the suspect sought for the rape-slaying of a Wells, Nev., minister's wife.

Police Captain Del Cole said the man carried a social security card with the name Laslo Varga, a Hungarian war refugee, has been charged with the murder of the minister's wife, Mrs. Billie Rahe Morning, 22. She was raped and killed in her home at Wells last Monday.

The minister's wife, five months pregnant, was tied to a bed, her body stripped of clothing and bitten and she was raped after which she was beaten to death with a rolling pin.

Varga was named in a murder warrant as the itinerant who called at her door that day while her husband was preaching in a nearby town. Nevada police identified him as a former inmate of a Ypsilanti, Mich., mental institution.

The youth arrested here will be detained pending arrival of Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

He was taken into custody by three Petaluma officers shortly after his arrival early this morning on a northbound bus. He was walking along North Green Street when the officers stopped him. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Cole said the description of the murder suspect tallied closely with that of the man picked up here. He is a white man, about 30 years old, with dark hair, wearing a suit, Nevada authorities said. The slayer suspect was wearing such a suit when last seen.

U. S. Reports Plot Against King Mihai's Life

Washington, March 26. —The State Department said today it has received "reports of rumors for a plot against the life of King Mihai of Romania."

It is "taking measures" to protect him against assassination, it said. Officials declined to say where the reports came from, or what preventive steps have been taken. The 26-year-old deposed king is visiting here.

FBI headquarters replied with a "no comment" when asked about security precautions for Mihai. It said all such questions must go to the State Department.

Mihai and his mother, Queen Helen, have been staying at the Shoreham Hotel here. Hotel officials said Washington police assigned a detective guard of three (two day and one night) when the royal party arrived. So far as they know, these officials said, there has been no increase in the guard.

Mihai is to leave here today for Detroit.

Forest Lands Offer Boom for Arkansas

Arkansas, which grows the highest quality pine the fastest of any state in the union, is in a position to reap spectacular profits from the boom in cellulose providing it learns to apply business management to the growing of timber.

Little Rock, Ark., advertising man and spokesman for state lumber interests, told Hope Rotary club at its luncheon today noon in Hotel Barlow.

Mr. Pollard, introduced by W. W. White, local hardwood mill owner, is with the Robert H. Brooks Advertising agency, and is helping promote the Keep Arkansas Green association.

Mr. Pollard pointed out that while cotton is going down timber is coming up, for a new and wonderful field for forest byproducts.

He said that the cellulose industry, of which rayon is just one item, he said, that the farmer used to look on timber as just something to be cleared off to make room for cotton—but today unprofitable cotton acreage is being turned into timber.

Great as Arkansas' forest production is it can be doubled by business management, the speaker continued. The big problem is to convince the small landowner, who controls half of Arkansas' forest land, that it is really profitable.

Such a county-wide program is now being started in Nevada county by Doug Bernis, of Prescott, Mr. Pollard said.

The speaker reminded his audience that Arkansas' timber industry is worth 165 million dollars a year; that it employs 26,000 persons; or 65 per cent of the industry employed in the state; and that there is a total of 1,479 sawmills alone.

Mr. Pollard reported that the state has 5,218 forest fires last year which destroyed 128,000 acres of timber. Most of those fires were incendiary, he charged—someone quarreled with his neighbor and then set fire to the woods. Mr. Pollard said the state has a law to cover such cases but it isn't enforced because justice of the peace are politically minded.

But for the side of progress he pointed to the fact that today fire protection covers the state, and there are 29 lumber companies operating a total of 3 million acres on a managed-timber basis.

Club guests today: F. M. Meade, Fayetteville; DeWitt Floyd, Billy Ed Bayse, Carroll Hyatt and W. R. Nickels, all of Hope.

Oren Harris to Discuss Marshall Plan

El Dorado, March 26. —(AP)—Congressman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said in an interview here today that it is unfortunate that there is so much confusion and that many people are not convinced of the seriousness of the international situation.

He predicted that the "real crisis" was coming to a climax April 18 in Italy (the date of the election) and because of the underhand methods being used there, it is very, very uncertain as to the outcome.

The Communists take over Italy and Finland, Harris said, then Scandinavia will be the next move. "That means we are not to go to the end we will have to get out of Greece and Turkey and have control of the Mediterranean to Russia."

The Arkansas Democrat declared today.

A Ghost in the Form of a Writer Plays an Important Part in World Today

By ARTHUR EDSON (For Hal Boyle)

Washington 26. —(AP)—President Daniel Marshall of Boston University has been haunted by a ghost.

This ghost is a little man who lurks behind typewriters. He builds speeches or articles to be spoken or signed by someone else. He is the ghostwriter.

In a recent speech Dr. Marshall told into the man who hires a ghost.

"Dishonest... morally threadbare," said the doctor. "Too lazy to write his own speeches and messages. The public is not justified in putting any confidence in what he says."

Ghostwriters get around to all kinds of places. Take sports. A baseball player hits a home run every three days and hence becomes a very important person.

J. Bryan Sims Succumbs in Little Rock

Little Rock, March 26. —(AP)—J. Bryan Sims, former state comptroller and 1944 gubernatorial candidate, died today.

He was 61. Sims had been under hospital treatment for several months for a heart condition. He first was stricken nearly three years ago and suffered a second attack recently.

A native of Fountain, Ashley county, Sims entered state service in 1922 as a county auditor in the state comptroller's office.

Sims rose to the post of chief deputy comptroller and when Governor M. McKelton became governor in 1940 he was named comptroller.

He resigned in 1944 to make the unsuccessful race for governor against Ben Lancy of Camden. An authority on county finance, he sponsored much of the legislation now in effect on county fiscal affairs in Arkansas.

He is survived by his widow, a son and a daughter. His son, pilot in the first wave of the Normandy invasion in World War II.

Ask UN to Send Troops to Keep Holy Land Order

By The Associated Press

Ugly snafus built up along the Way of Sorrows this Good Friday and an appeal went out to the world to protect Jerusalem from becoming a tragic battleground.

The Jewish agency for Palestine, official spokesman for the Holy Land's Jewry, urged the United Nations to rush troops to Jerusalem before the British give up their mandate May 15. The agency suggested Danish and Norwegian troops stationed in northern Germany might be used.

Officials in Washington predict that if American efforts to arrange a Jewish-Arab truce fail, the Holy Land will be in for wholesale bloodshed when the British leave.

President Truman has called for a U. N. trusteeship to assume temporary authority and a truce to end the Arab-Jewish warfare.

Even before the war, with Arab guns guarding the way, trudged the path Christ is believed to have walked to the cross, British troops moved out of Jerusalem in an attempt to halt Arab attacks on Jewish pilgrims along the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road.

There was no slackening of tension elsewhere in international affairs.

In Italy, Communist Leader Luigi Chiarini declared that the Communists will seize the government.

U. S. Funds to Help China Help Herself

Washington, March 26. —(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee said today the $483,000,000 aid program it proposes for China is intended to give that country "opportunity to undertake a vigorous program of self-help."

The committee said the aid program is intended to help China "underwrite the destiny of China."

The $483,000,000 is proposed for a 12 months aid program. Senate debate is due to start next Wednesday.

The House is considering a $8,205,000,000 "single package" foreign aid bill. It includes $570,000,000 for China for 15 months.

Under the present circumstances, it is not possible to develop a practical effective, long term program for China's economic recovery, predated on outside assistance from the United States. We cannot underwrite the destiny of China.

The report said also that the United States "should not be put in the position of being held responsible for the conduct of the Chinese government and its political, economic and military affairs."

The purpose of the aid program, the report continued, is to meet China's most important economic requirements, to "relieve human suffering and give the hard working people of China a chance to raise the rate of economic deterioration in China."

Mrs. Stringfellow and her baby were killed when their home about three miles south of Wetumka was flattened by the storm. Her husband suffered a broken shoulder and leg injuries and was taken to a Holdenville, Okla., hospital. The Stringfellovs' six year old daughter was four years old when the storm hit a nearby field. She was unhurt but her clothes had been torn off.

The five Harris victims were burned to death in a fire which followed the storm. Travis Watson, Wetumka postmaster, said a barn was blown into the Harris home near Wetumka and appeared to have been crushed.

'I Walk Alone' Stars Burt Lancaster and Elizabeth Scott

Double-Cross Drama Opens at Saenger Sunday

"I Walk Alone," the new Hal Wallis production for Paramount which arrives Sunday at the Saenger theater with co-stars Burt Lancaster and Elizabeth Scott, tells the suspenseful story of a double-cross drama perpetrated upon a man who wouldn't take it lying down. In twenty-four exciting hours the vicious double-cross is avenged in a way that is said to be tops in movie thrills.

Word is that Charles Schnee has scripted a story loaded with pulse-pounding situations, and previewers unanimously agree that the excellent cast, under Byron Haskin's deftly direction, has extracted every drop of excitement in it. They have shined out for commendation, in addition to the stars, Kirk Douglas, Wendell Corey and Kristine Miller.

Lancaster, now firmly established as one of the screen's most magnetic personalities, is said to be the best rough-and-tumble actor in "I Walk Alone." As Frankie Madison, an ex-bootlegger who returns from a long prison stretch only to be double-crossed by an old "pal," he has the sort of two-fisted role that catapulted him to Hollywood heights.

Elizabeth Scott, in "I Walk Alone," is the main force, is spotlighted in three reportedly vivid episodes in the film. The first scene, in which Burt is unmercifully beaten up, has been called one of the most realistic and brutal battles ever filmed. It has also been said that Lancaster's brawling, capture and unarming of double-crossing Kirk Douglas, in a fight in the dark, builds to a maximum of suspense, and that the running gun duel and climatic car crash in a hijacking scene add much to the drama.

Arnold Calls for Union of Democracies

Sonoma, Calif., March 26 —(AP)—Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold today called for a union of Democracies strongly backed by air, sea and land power to stop Communism's world advance.

"Some nations respect only force and power. Russia is just such a nation," Arnold wrote in his weekly column in the Sonoma Index-Tribune. The wartime chief of the air forces retired to a ranch here.

"Get a union of democratic nations with the common purpose of stopping the advance of Communism — and if that union were backed by the mightiest air force in the world; by armies and navies that matched the Russian armies and navies, but with superior equipment, then we would have a federation to say to Russia: 'There is the line over which you shall not step.'"

Arnold said he would then understand what we meant for we could be talking her language.

Legislator Faces Charges of Murder

Purcell, Okla., March 26 —(AP)—A Veteran Oklahoma legislator faces a possible murder charge today.

Jake Miller, 37-year-old used car dealer of Blanchard, Okla., was killed from a shotgun blast in the office of State Representative Purman Wilson, 47-year-old attorney and member of a prominent McClain County family.

Miller's wife, Ruth, their four-year-old daughter, Linda Margaret, and Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gosh of Pauls Valley, witnessed the tragedy. Mrs. Leona Elyon, Wilson's secretary, also was in the office at the time.

Officers did not give their version of the shooting but Mrs. Miller charged it was "cold blooded murder." Wilson made no statement after surrendering to sheriff A. Edgman.

His Attorney, Hardin Ballard, said the gun was discharged accidentally as Wilson attempted to get Miller out of the office.

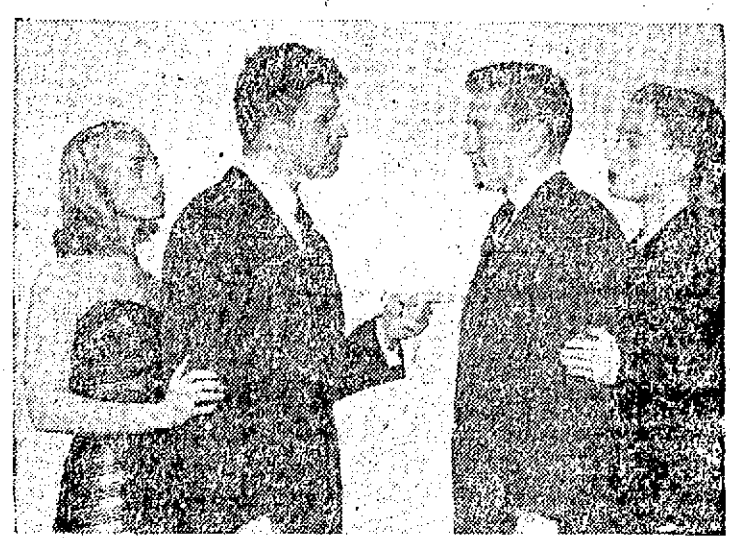

Mrs. Miller had filed for divorce but said she had agreed to dismiss the action.

"We had gone up there to make up," she sobbed. "Jake never had a chance."

With Lancaster in "Desert Fury," is again romantically paired with the rugged actor. She plays a night club singer who, after inadvertently betraying him, falls for Burt and helps him redeem himself.

For Kirk Douglas, whose screen success was assured by his sterling portrayal of the wealding district attorney in "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers," the new role has been hailed as another powerful characterization.

ently a stove in the house overturned, setting the structure ablaze. Another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris suffered severe burns and was taken to a Holdenville hospital.

Wetumka has a population of about 2,700. Eufula's population is about 2,300.

The search was continuing for additional storm victims. Howard Nix, University of Oklahoma student, said at Wetumka an estimated 10 injured persons had been found from the Wetumka area and were taken to a Holdenville hospital.

The highway patrol said six homes were known to have been destroyed three miles south of Wetumka. Other homes in the area were partly damaged, Nix said.

Fort Smith, March 26 —(AP)—One or more tornados boomed around in this section of western Arkansas last night and early today, causing considerable property damage but only two reported injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Will T. McCarty were hurt slightly when the wind wrecked their farm home 10 miles west of Booneville. Barns and other farm buildings in that area were demolished and numerous trees uprooted.

The farm home of Marion Fintley four miles south of Hackett, Ark., was damaged and two of Fintley's barns were demolished. Other barns and dwellings in the area were damaged.

At Caulksville, eight miles west of Paris, a storm damaged at least four farm buildings. Hail also fell in the Caulksville vicinity. A heavy hail storm was reported overnight at Mountainburg north of here.

Injured at Wetumka were: Audrey Harris, 18; her brother, James Harris, 7, and Mi Harris, 10.

Also injured was Mrs. J. A. Carter, whose farm home six and one-half miles southeast of Wetumka was destroyed. She suffered severe cuts and bruises.

The farm home of Ola and Commodore Rogers near Sallisaw was demolished by the storm and Rogers' brother, William Rogers, 16, injured from the Sallisaw area were being taken to a Fort Smith hospital. The highway patrol reported seven injured there.

The storm which struck Tinker Field was the second within a week to do major damage there. No estimate had been made on the damage by last night's twister at the field, but about 100 planes were destroyed or damaged there last Saturday night at an estimated damage of $10,000,000 (M).

Major Gen. S. B. Borman, Tinker Field commander, listed the following damage to the planes there tonight:

Seven B-29S destroyed, 11 others damaged; 17 PT-19 trainers destroyed, 3 others damaged; 9 P-47S destroyed, 35 others damaged; 3 C-47S damaged.

Probe of War Surplus Is Indicated

Washington, March 26 (AP)—An early House investigation was promised today by the House Committee on War Surpluses, "behind the iron curtain."

Chairman Rixley (R-Okla.) of a House Expenditures subcommittee, said disclosures of recent shipment of U. S. warplane engines to Russia and Poland had emphasized the need for checking on the fate of vast greater U. S. surpluses abroad.

"If the traders over there are as ambitious as some of ours have been, there's no telling how much may have been sold to Russia and her satellites," he said.

Meanwhile Congress received administration assurances of a tighter screening of exports to Russia to sift out potential war materials.

Secretary of Defense Forrestal told the Senate Armed Services Committee that he had ordered a foreign trade study and will have a policy statement soon.

And Chairman Shafer (R-Mich.) of a House Armed Services subcommittee said he had been assured by Secretary of Commerce Harrison that his department was clamping down on exports of potential war goods. The Commerce department controls licenses for shipments abroad.

Rixley's group expects a report on war surplus goods when the committee meets again early next week, or the week after.

Rixley said he has asked the foreign liquidation commission for a full accounting of the distribution and present whereabouts of surplus U. S. war supplies which were sold to foreign countries.

"Some of those countries have since gone behind the iron curtain," he said. "Czechoslovakia is one of them. Now the Czechs got a fabulous amount from us before the Russians moved in — something over a billion dollars, I believe."

Rixley said committee investigators also are checking into:

1. The War Assets Administration's promise last November that some $20,000,000 worth of lend-lease material originally earmarked for Russia would not go to the Soviets.
2. Reports that "a new batch of U. S. airplanes and engines is being sold world-wide."
3. Indications that "a tremendous amount of scrap may have fallen into the wrong hands."
4. Activities of the Moore-McCormack steamship lines in shipping materials from this country to Russia.

Russia Has Right to Have Subs Near U. S.

Washington, March 26 —(UP)—Navy officers said today that rules of law leave the United States powerless to protest the presence of Russian submarines off American shores.

They said foreign vessels can roam the high seas as they please as long as they stay out of territorial waters of another country. That generally is regarded as the three mile area immediately off shore.

Meanwhile, informed quarters said Russian submarine activity off American shores was even more extensive than indicated yesterday by Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan and other navy officials.

These quarters said Soviet undersea craft have been plying the waters near U. S. bases in the Pacific for about a year. They said their information was that at least five subs cruising near the Aleutian Islands had been positively identified as Russian. The Aleutians are only a short hop from Russian territory.

Sullivan, testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday, said only that:

"Recently submarines not belonging to any nation west of the iron curtain have been sighted off our shores. I am not prepared to evaluate the significance of these sightings. However, we all recall that an early step of the Germans in 1917 and 1941 was to deploy submarines off our coasts."

He refused to elaborate. But a high navy official told reporters that three submarines identified as "not ours" have been sighted off American shores and near U. S. territories since Jan. 30.

He said one was seen about 200 miles off San Francisco about a month ago. Because this occurred at night, the navy considered the report "doubtful," he said.

Another was seen by a U. S. plane operating off the Aleutians in daylight. Russia is reported to have a submarine base south of Alaska. The periscope of a third, reported Jan. 30 by another merchant ship, was seen during the day near Johnston island and Palmyra, some 800 miles from Pearl Harbor.

CIO Official Attacks Poll Tax Law

Washington, March 25 —(AP)—The CIO's James E. Carey today attacked the poll tax as a "dollar sign" pinned to the right to vote.

Carey told the Senate Rules Committee in a statement that the tax is a requirement for voting in federal elections can be deprived of his voting rights "because of his poverty."

The committee is considering a House-approved bill which would abolish the poll tax in the states which now have it: Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, Alabama, Virginia, Texas, Arkansas and New Hampshire.

This was the last of four days of hearings devoted to the bill. Opponents testified Monday and Tuesday, supporters yesterday and today.

Some of those countries have since gone behind the iron curtain," he said. "Czechoslovakia is one of them. Now the Czechs got a fabulous amount from us before the Russians moved in — something over a billion dollars, I believe."

Rixley said committee investigators also are checking into:

1. The War Assets Administration's promise last November that some $20,000,000 worth of lend-lease material originally earmarked for Russia would not go to the Soviets.
2. Reports that "a new batch of U. S. airplanes and engines is being sold world-wide."
3. Indications that "a tremendous amount of scrap may have fallen into the wrong hands."
4. Activities of the Moore-McCormack steamship lines in shipping materials from this country to Russia.

from Gen. Carl Spaatz, air force chief of staff, that they still regard the larger figure as necessary.

This brought Secretary of Defense Forrestal back to the witness stand with the rejoinder that to add the 15 groups would boost the cost of the expansion program to $18,000,000,000 for air power alone. And both the navy and ground forces then would have to be increased in proportion, he insisted.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) charged Forrestal's estimates, and the secretary agreed to return next week with exact data.

Lodge said he would have more questions than too.

To a reporter's query as to whether Forrestal's explanation for the cutback satisfied him, the Massachusetts lawmaker snapped:

"I didn't even get an answer."

"The answer to that question must be furnished," Lodge went on. "If we are going to cut down from 70 to 35 groups we must know why. It certainly isn't because the international situation is growing any easier. And it certainly is not because air power has become any less important."

Crewmen of Schooners Reach Safety

Halifax, N. S., March 26 —(AP)—Officials said the 27 crewmen of two ice-crusted sealing schooners reached safely today on St. Paul's island at the entrance to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The 21 men of the Teazer and the 16 from the Monica Walters tied gingerly over perilous floes to reach land. St. Paul's is in Cabot Strait, about 20 miles north of Cape Breton.

Both the Canadian Air Force and Federal Transport Department received messages verifying the deliveries.

The Teazer was crushed to pulp yesterday by thundering ice. Capt. Joseph Barry of Milton, Mass., and one of the crew were the first to reach land. The Canadian ice-breaker Saturn had bucked heavy ice in an attempt to help as the other 19 picked their ways across

Youths Listen While Announcer Scolds Parents

New City, N. Y., March 26 —(UP)—Four boys listened intently as the announcer on the radio crime program scolded adults for contributing to juvenile delinquency by carelessness.

The announcer said a high percentage of automobiles were stolen because motorists left keys in the ignition and neglected to lock doors. He added that the most careless were trusting churchgoers.

The boys left their homes in Hillside, N. J., last night and walked down to Christ church where a church function was in progress. The radio announcer, they found, was right. The first car they inspected was unlocked. The key was in the ignition. They got in and drove off.

An adult motorist, John Day, of Tarrytown, N. Y., however, saw them and gave chase. The chase ended when the stolen car left the road, sheared off the front porch of William E. Goetschius' farm house near here and plunged into a corner of his living room.

Police withheld the names of two of the boys, only 14, who will face charges in children's court at Ridgeway, N. J. The other two, Paul Gerard, 16, and Joseph Mason, 17, were held without bail in Rockland county jail for a hearing Saturday.

EASTER

SUNDAY
MARCH 28th

Through the open stained glass windows of the church we can hear the thrush's sprightly note... and we know it's Easter... the time of the Resurrection of Christ. When we see a plowed field ready for the seeding we know this productivity that feeds the nation... that employs scores of Americans in gainful labor... is a manifestation of Him, too... When we see one neighbor shake another's hand, one nation discussing "PEACE ON EARTH" with another... we are certain of Him... And when we hear the organ intone the immortal hymns sung by our children in church

... we feel a joyous communion with Jesus... a faith and devotion which enables us to enjoy... throughout all the seasons... our pleasures... to endure the hardships, the disappointments, the uncertainties of a constantly changing complicated world.
